

The race to create a world powered by emissions-free energy sources is well underway, and Canada has positioned itself as a champion of efforts to tackle climate change.

*Michael Delage, Vice President,
Strategy and Corporate Development, General Fusion*

